Letter from the CEO – Ian Kloppers

Our biggest limitation is our own successes

Miles Monroe

The recent past has brought numerous plans, ideas and dreams to reality. From the chaos of uncertainty few “great ventures” were born. To realise something special from the midst of uncontrolled uncertainty and constant change requires something special.

Over the last year CES Group (Pty) Ltd, now a registered multi-disciplinary firm, has risen as a truly phenomenal success story. Lead by a dedicated board of directors, supported by a well-balanced team of professionals we have distinguished ourselves as one of the leading multi-disciplinary consulting firms in the industry. Valued by our clients and respected by our competitors we have set new benchmarks on professional, value contributing service delivery.

EVERYBODY WANTS TO SEE CHANGE BUT NOT EVERYBODY WANTS TO CHANGE.

Well aware of our successes, CES Group has set our sights on ever improving our own standards and positively changing the industry norms to eventually become the acclaimed industry leaders, without discarding the fundamental building blocks which laid the perfect foundation for a truly great venture.

Now at the start of 2011 CES Group has ensured that we are strategically positioned and holistically balanced to deliver on every commitment and significantly contribute to the success of every involvement.
